

書名 Living professionalism : reflections on the practice of medicine

作者 Erin A. Egan 、 Patricia M. Surdyk

書碼 W21/L78/2006

登錄號 E0010760

內容摘要：

A collection of personal narratives and essays, Living Professionalism is designed to help medical students and residents understand and internalize various aspects of professionalism. These essays are meant for personal reflection and above all, for thoughtful discussion with mentors, with peers, with others throughout the health care provider community who care about acting professionally.